Speak Sobriety: A Journey to Recovery

Featuring Stephen Hill

Stephen Hill had everything going for him in secondary school: a loving family, lots of friends, and he excelled in school - especially sports.

Elevated to play on the junior varsity lacrosse team in 8th grade, Stephen was introduced to drugs and alcohol by older peers. He started drinking and smoking his freshman year of high school, and his life quickly spiraled out of control. Before long, he was addicted to prescription painkillers and heroin.

Join fellow athletes, students and parents to hear more about Stephen Hill's struggles with addiction and his inspiring story of recovery that led him to become an advocate for sobriety.
